

Ortiz Anchovies and Tuna Fillets

Ortiz Anchovies and Tuna Fillets are well known as the highest quality offering in the packed anchovy and tuna categories. From Northern Spain and commencing canning operations in the 1940's, José Ortiz utilised Italian salting techniques, using minimal amounts between layers, to semi-preserve the high quality produce fished from Cantabria water. Five generations later, Ortiz is a global success story. At Gippsland Cheese we're excited to continue to offer and extend our range by selecting the highest quality producers, as we commence distribution of Ortiz for Victoria.

Anchovies 47.5g

A classic staple in kitchens and pantries, Ortiz anchovies are also amazing straight from the tin. Caught during coastal fishing season they are placed in salt, pressed and left to mature in barrels for six months, developing that intense flavour and texture the range is well known for. Also available in 450g food service tin.

Single Serve Anchovies 4 - 6 pack

A new retail offer from Ortiz are these super convenient 4 - 6 anchovy 'peel and use' packs. Rather than having an open tin sitting in the fridge, these are a one use item and perfect for making a Caesar salad or on crackers with fresh tomatoes.

We're excited to be the only company with this product in Victoria.

'Ventresca' Belly Fillet of White Tuna 110g

The most highly sought after part of the Tuna, Ventresca, the belly meat, is the most mild and tender. After each 'Bonito del Norte' tuna is cooked in sea water, the delicate ventresca fillets are placed in the tin by hand, keeping the meat intact, and covered in olive oil. Each tuna is hand caught with rod and line.
